S3E7 (Will sucks it up and other stories Name by Zeke): Will and Zeke fight because Will knows what Zeke doesn't know about, and both Barry and Zeke think it's serious.

Plot (Idea by Zeke and Karma): Will and Zeke fight and Barry leaves to fuck up trucks Oliver style. |S.C.ruffey|Then Hooch yells at Will bc he lied about Barry off screen they get into a big fight then Barry breaks it up and takes and tells him to say sorry to all the people he wronged. First, he said sorry to Barry, then Zeke, and finally Thomas, but Thomas doesn't accept his apology. Will tries everything, but it does not work. Then, Thomas said "It's all your fault and it will ALWAYS be your fault". Will remembers killing himself and felt mad, so he bumps Thomas off the rails and yells at him, and they get into a fight and Thomas pulls Will's last nerve and Will crashes out. Thomas stops yelling. Then, Will leaves and goes to apologize to Hooch. Then, Hooch yells at Will because he lied about Barry. Then Will tells Hooch that Barry stole the cookies and gained diabetes from how many he ate (Don't ask) I feel like he ate 49 or 24... Hooch looks at Will like he's an idiot. Then, Hooch pulls up, and Narrator 3 (Damien) jumps out of the cab. He asks what's going on, and Narrator 1 tells Will to stop wasting time and apologize. But Will does not do it, and tells Narrator 1 off, but Narrator 1 takes no nonsense, and takes away his powers. The scene cuts to black for a few seconds, then all 3 narrators having a discussion at Mcdonalds (The one at Knapford in RTSR: TCE) on a rainy night, the credits roll on top as they have their conversation. Soon, they have an agreement on something that might be discussed in the next episode. Then, the narrators begin to discuss shows that got revived or things making a comeback. Then, all 4 of us make our announcement: We're making a revamp of the series, and the original series ends here.

Any ideas for what their agreement is? List it here:
-Barry's idea: A new engine being introduced, Portishead (yes).
-Karma's idea: More about Damien (Narrator 3) will be talked about/discussed/shown (yes)
-Zeke's idea: Zeke being a coin (maybe)
-Hooch's idea:
-Engy's idea: Ava: a future idea for episode,tugs high tide based with Keanen and Carter (no) sorry engy but no. not now.

S3E8 (Snitches get stitches/eye for an eye): Will finds out more about Zeke, and tries to tell the other engines Plot (Idea by Karma (Will) with edits by Barry :)): It's early morning, and Barry, Thomas, Hooch, and Zeke are at S7 Knapford sheds. Will isn't there with them. They discuss what happened yesterday, and about Will. Zeke is still angry with Will. Thomas then begins to wonder if anyone was in the wrong. Most agree that Will is in the wrong, but Thomas gets curious, and wonders if Zeke is in the wrong at all, but Barry brushes him off. Meanwhile, Will is taking a stroll down the line, angry about what happened yesterday, and thinks that he shouldn't apologize to Carter, he thinks there's a reason too. He remembers some of the things that Carter has done, including helping Gerald get killed (S3E2) kinda also barrys fault ngl. Didn't check couplings but, and some other things. Later, he goes to Crosby to take his mind off things. He rests in a shed. But his sleep is interrupted when another engine puffs up to him. They question why he's here, and Will tells them that he's angry about Carter, and wants to take his mind off things. The engine then gets a bit nervous when Will mentions Carter. Will gets confused, and the engine begins to list some things that Carter has done, revealing some dark information. Although, he tells Will not to tell anyone else, or else they (the engine) will get punished. Will is shocked by the information, and puffs away, wanting to find Barry. Later, he finds Hooch, and tells him about Carter. But Hooch says he's too busy at the moment, and sets off with his passenger train. He then finds Thomas, but Thomas is too annoyed with him. His last resort is Barry, and Barry listens, but gets annoyed with Will when he mentions Carter, wanting him to apologize. Will tries to explain to him that he might have a reason not to, and to listen to a secret, but Barry puffs off. Later that night, most of the engines had gathered at the sheds, not including Carter. Will thinks this is the perfect moment, and puffs into the sheds. He reminds everyone to listen, and Will finally tells the information about Carter that the engine told him. But, instead of getting angry at Carter, they're even more angry at Will now for snitching. Will puffs off, guilty. But Barry thinks about it, and puffs off. He finds Carter somewhere else, and asks her if the stuff Will told them is true, but Carter says no. Barry puffs away annoyed, but then, plot twist! Carter grows nervous from what Barry told her, she tells herself that the thing she just told Barry was a lie, and that she doesn't want the others to find out that information is actually true, and that she might be doomed if it is. The scene then cuts to black, with the credits rolling over an ambient nighttime scene. Hear me out Barry feels betrayed by Carter and Carter knows that so she hates Will more and wants to fix her and Barry's relationship and is pissed off at will.

Idea 1: Barry doesn't know about the things about Carter that Will told them, and Carter was keeping the dark information secret, not wanting Barry to hate her. But Will spills the tea 2 Barry and Barry knows it's true and Carter knows Barry knows and hates Will even more and they get into a fight.

Idea 2: Will gets a punishment for snitching, but either he accepts it, or is soon forgiven when they find out that the information is true, and that Will did have a reason to apologize after all, but the others are still kinda mad at him.

Idea 3: A post credit scene about the engine that told Will the information about Carter S3E9 (Betrayed and Broken Name by Karma) (idea by Barry) Will has started to be forgiven by some but not others. Barry still feels betrayed by Carter and he confronts Carter.

Plot: (Idea by barry) [Inert plot here] “Engine is water to determination”